1 / INTRODUCTION TO FORMATIONS

All offensive plays start from a formation that dictates where all five players line up prior to the start of the play. Our flag football playbooks focus on six formations – spread, trips, stack, double back, I and single-back. There are always adjustments and changes a coach can make to these plays (including sending a player in motion), however it is important when coaching young players that you focus more on basic fundamentals of the game and less on complicated formations and motions. Teams that do just a few things very well will be more successful than teams that do many things less than well.

SPREAD RIGHT	SPREAD LEFT	TRIPS RIGHT

PLAY-CALLING

Note: Play names included in this playbook are suggestions. Feel free to adopt the play names to fit your needs and the mental capacity of your players. USA Football recommends picking a few plays that your team can run well rather than implementing the entire playbook.
